Flight of Rebel Leader Breaks Insurrection

HUERTA FLEES VERA CRUZ AS FEDERALS GAIN

War Department Officials Confident Obregon Government Is Victorious.

OTHER INSURGENTS MISSING

Capture of Cordoba Will Complete Military Line and Isolate Rebel Faction.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 6.—War department officials declared that with the flight from Vera Cruz of Adolfo de la Huerta the backbone of the insurrection against the Obregon government has been broken.

De la Huerta is believed to be heading for Merida, capital of Yucatan. This is indicated in various wireless messages sent from his steamer signed "J." containing "final requests" instead of orders to the rebel military commanders in the Campeche, Yucatan and Tuxpan regions.

The war department believes the occupation of Vera Cruz itself will not be delayed beyond the end of this week pending the repair of the rebel forces still remaining in the Tuxpan oil region and in the isthmus of Tehuantepec. It is believed they will not be able to make effective resistance since they were weakened furnishing reinforcements for the defense of Vera Cruz.

No official information is available regarding the whereabouts of General Guadalupe Sanchez, the military commander in chief of the Huerta army.

With the capture of Cordoba the rebels were enabled to complete their military line including the railway to Santa Lucracia, San Gerónimo and Salina Cruz, thereby isolating the Vera Cruz movement from the other affected regions — Yucatan, Oaxaca and Jalisco.

Autos Damaged In Collision

A car driven by Dr. C. Walter Cole struck another automobile, a sedan, driven by John Silva of this city at the intersection at Ninth and Macdonald at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Neither of the drivers were injured, but both of the cars were damaged.

According to witnesses Cole was driving west on Macdonald avenue and Silva was piloting his car east on the same street. At the time he attempted to turn up Ninth street he was struck by the other car.

Rotary Club To Honor Wilson

On Friday the Rotary Club at their regular weekly luncheon will hold a memorial service for the late Woodrow Wilson, ex-president of the United States. J. O. Davis, collector of internal revenue at the port of San Francisco during the Wilson administration has been secured to speak before the club. Appropriate music will be played during the ceremony. The meeting will be in charge of Dr. U. S. Abbott, chairman of the day.

TEAPOT DOME OIL HEARING BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

Washington—In addition to the $100,000 in cash which he borrowed from Edward L. Doheny, a multimillionaire oil magnate (insert) ex-secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall, also secured from Col. J. W. Zevely, a business partner of Harry lands committee in its investigation F. Sinclair, the sum of $25,000 in Liberty bonds as a loan in the autumn of 1921. Zevely testified this afternoon when he appeared as a witness before the Senate Public

Last Rites Held for Woodrow Wilson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—On the heights of Mount St Alban, commanding the scene of his greatest triumphs, and his profoundest tragedies, reverent hands laid at rest today Woodrow Wilson, America's great war president, whose spoken words once decided the fate of empires and changed the history of a turbulent world.

Within sight of his final resting place towers the monument that a grateful nation erected to Washington, the founder; the jewel-like memorial to Lincoln, the emancipator; and further on the modest tomb that marks the eternal sleep of the Unknown Soldier—a trinity of memories that shall be forever hallowed in America.

For Woodrow Wilson there was no last sad march down historic Pennsylvania avenue, no clattering military bands, no pomp of power and of display, no pageantry of a nation's sorrow. In life he had participated in more of these memorable marches, down the avenue, than ordinarily falls to the lot of presidents; and in death he sought only the peace and quietude that comes when tired men fall asleep.

Outside the great, half-finished cathedral which is to be his final resting place, stood thousands of people—come voluntarily to stand and shift restlessly in the sharp cold and demonstrate that no ordinary mortal was here being buried.

To these thousands outside came clearly the simple scriptural quotations and prayers which constitute the final services. The words were wafted out of the little chapel by radio to the waiting multitude, and far off were caught up and broadcast to countless others. The whole world listened as Woodrow Wilson went to his final resting place and yet his presence was unfeeling in the dimly lit chapel.

Real Estate Men Honor State President At Banquet; Barbour Tells of Valley Advancement

President Henry P. Barbour of the California State Real Estate Association, the honored guest at a banquet held yesterday by the Contra Costa Board of Realtors, and attended by visitors from all parts of the county and from adjoining cities.

With Barbour was Wm. E. Herpin, national field secretary. Toastmaster for the day was E. B. Bull. Short talks were given by several county men, among whom were C. A. Ricks of Martinez, and W. R. Sharkey, also of Martinez. A short talk also was given by L. B. Green, president of the Vallejo Real Estate Association.

The principal talk was given by Barbour, who urged everyone present to support Richmond and to work for the upbuilding of the city. Barbour also made reference to a talk he gave in the San Joaquin valley, in which is set forth the value of the advertising and agricultural work done in that section.

Proud of San Joaquin Valley. "In the past," President Barbour said, "the San Joaquin valley has contributed, perhaps, more than any other section to the great prosperity of our commonwealth. In the ten years ended 1920 you more than doubled your population, and during the recent period of deflation your men and women proved themselves heroes, standing shoulder to shoulder with team work that was the marvel of the world. You carried through the raising drive and thereby put yourselves in a better and stronger financial position than any farming section of America. The world looks to the San Joaquin valley as the keystone of the entire co-operative marketing structure and your success here has been the inspiration of farmers everywhere. The California Real Estate Association is proud of this valley and proud of the men who are working it. Notwithstanding all the good work you have done, you and I realize that there are yet many problems for the betterment of this valley of inspiration to solve."

dous value to the people of Central California. The best posted men on real estate conditions in the state and nation took part in its program. "The farm lands conference developed the fact that farm lands are going to be in greater demand than ever," he said; "that the people of California are rising to the situation created by the steady flow of the people to the cities. Back country development must come about now as the cycle of urban development must be balanced by corresponding development in the market basket district of the state."

Compliments Realty Boards. President Barbour compliments the work of the realty boards of the San Joaquin valley as having done their part in raising the standard of real estate practice. "The realtor is the man of the hour in all real estate transactions," he said, "and I am proud of the fact that the members of practically all the San Joaquin valley boards are entitled to call themselves Realtors, which means that the real estate agent so affiliated with state and national associations must base all his transactions on the golden rule of the square deal."

Realtors were urged to bring their boys and girls of high school age to their meetings, that the coming generation may know of the work of the realtor and desire to become engaged in the profession.

Association Activities. Reviewing the work of the state association, President Barbour said that as a direct result of the realty board meetings, conventions and conferences, capital was being attracted to the valley cities as never before; that the two great cities of the state—Los Angeles and San Francisco—were now devoting more consideration and an ever increasing amount of capital to development of the farm lands "as the backbone of metropolitan development at coastal gateways."

ATTEMPTS TO SLAY THREE; TAKES OWN LIFE

Martinez Man Commits Suicide After Ineffectual Effort For Reconciliation.

STOCKTON MAN IS WOUNDED

Sheriff's Officials Probe Shooting; Family Difficulties Are Blamed.

MARTINEZ, Feb. 6.—After attempting to slay his wife and three Stockton men, Arthur Harold Gruwell, 23, of this city, turned a revolver on himself at 11:45 today and sent a bullet through his head. Death was instant. The fatal shooting occurred in the Mt. View District, just south of the city limits.

Those arrested were as follows: Theodore Marcello, 100 Macdonald avenue. Pleaded not guilty and released on $500 bond.

Stefena Civetto, 444 B street. Pleaded guilty.

Louis Banducci, 360 Enterprise avenue. Pleaded not guilty.

Louis Agostini, 100 Macdonald avenue. Pleaded guilty.

Pete Granzelli, 43 First street. Pleaded not guilty.

Rose M. Sammiguell, 496 Garrard. Pleaded guilty.

As a result of the raid police are said to have information which points to the fact that one of the places was patronized chiefly by well known Richmond citizens. This was said to have been discovered by one of the operatives who has placed complete information in the hands of the officers.

The raids came as the result of several weeks' work on the part of the detectives who assisted local police. A large quantity of evidence was secured, it was stated. Over 250 gallons of wine was seized at the home of Stefena Civetto, 444 B street. Mrs. Civetto, who pleaded guilty to the charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, was said by police to have three children to support. Mrs. Civetto and Rose Sammiguell were released on their own recognizance to appear in court today. The others were all released on $500 bond each.

No trouble was encountered by the police in their raids, it was stated. At one place a detective observed a man running up a stairway carrying a jug, and when the man failed to halt he pulled a gun. The man was later released, however.

Louis Agostini, who pleaded guilty to violation of the Wright act, recently had asked the city council to transfer his soft drink permit to 100 Macdonald avenue, but was denied owing to a previous conviction on a and a minute later the shooting started.

The entire shooting was witnessed by E. C. Howard of Susan, connected with the Chandler-Hunt Furniture Company, and R. A. Grote of this city, who were seated in an automobile a short distance away.

When the shooting started the three men leaped from the automobile and started to run, one reaching safety behind Howard's machine.

TWO WOMAN AMONG THOSE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY ON RUM CHARGE; FIVE ENTER PLEA OF GUILTY

Theodore Marcello Again Arrested; Will Be Charged With Transportation of Liquor; Police Declare One Place Patronized By Well Known Richmond Citizens.

Eight people were arrested, two of whom were women, in house raids staged here last night by local police, aided by eight San Francisco detective operatives. Sufficient evidence was secured both for sale and possession, Chief of Police W. H. Wood said, and those arrested will be held on separate charges for each sale, in some cases said to number as high as five or six.

Those arrested were immediately taken before Police Judge C. A. Odell to enter pleas. Three pleaded not guilty, while five, including the two women, entered pleas of guilty and will appear in Police court at 10 o'clock this morning for sentence.

Those arrested were as follows: Theodore Marcello, 100 Macdonald avenue. Pleaded not guilty and released on $500 bond.

Stefena Civetto, 444 B street. Pleaded guilty.

Mrs. Gruwell states they were married in 1915 and besides the baby that has been in the care of Mrs. Williams they had another child now four years of age.

Lumber Company Safe Is Looted

CROCKETT, Feb. 6.—The safe in the Tilden Lumber Company's office here, was blown open by thugs on Tuesday night, but the thieves found nothing to reward their efforts.

Discovery of the attempted burglary was made on Wednesday morning by F. C. Newton, manager of the lumber yard, when he arrived at the office.

According to Newton the safe is used only for books and records of the office and no funds were kept in it.

An investigation was made immediately by the officers and according to Constable Fox a large amount of explosive was used, judging from the badly wrecked condition of the safe. Entrance to the office was gained by forcing a door.

No one in the vicinity of the lumber yard office has reported hearing a sound from the explosion. A similar safe cracking job was done in Oakland several days ago and officers express the belief that the dynamite used in both cases was stolen from the El Cerrito quarry two weeks ago.

Official Paper of the City of Richmond

THE PART REALTORS TAKE

"Take the real estate men seriously," urged Henry B. Barbour, president of the state association of real estate men, in a talk given at a banquet held here in his honor. There is food for thought in that statement.

Real estate men often are the first to greet visitors to this city. Upon the impression they give the visitor depends the visitors' opinion of us. It is part of the job of the real estate man to make that opinion a good one, and to do all in his power to induce new residents to come to Richmond.

The realtor cannot be accused of acting all-together from personal motives, for his success means added success to every business man in the city. Often times a real estate man is responsible for the bringing of an important industry to a city—an industry that may mean a payroll of thousands of dollars in a years time. That money is spent in the city and is far more than the real estate man makes out of the transaction.

New residents mean new homes, new furnishings, more groceries—in fact every line of business benefits by the addition of a new family to the city.

Take the real estate man seriously.

BOXING PRESTIGE OF NEW YORK

Members of the National Boxing association, in session at Louisville, complain that New York dominates the sport. The big bouts are held in Madison Square Garden or at other points of easy access to the metropolis. The body even goes so far as to consider a motion to disregard the rulings of the New York boxing commission when such rulings suspend fighters for irregular practices. Could provincial prejudice go farther than that?

The transparent reason for New York's prestige seems to be ignored entirely. Boxers, like other persons with something to sell, seek the best market. If Chicago, Louisville, Philadelphia, or New Orleans outbid New York, the best fight will come away from a big city. Nobody knows this better than it should be known by boxing commissioners from other states. Madison Square Garden is almost in the middle of an area of 400 square miles containing a population of approximately ten million people. There are more patrons of the game within 25 miles of the entrance gate than there are in any other state in the union.

Naturally far-seeing men have taken advantage of opportunities offered and have made money by promotion. They were not attracted by other sections. And, furthermore, the fact should not be overlooked that the whole country is benefited by matches made and contests settled in New York. Interest in the game is maintained, and only a relatively few can get on matches there. Boxers, who cannot, many of the good and fit, must seek a market elsewhere. It will not advance the sport for the national association to deliberately adopt a dog-in-the-manager policy.

Action by the city council in revoking the soft drink permits of twenty places, said to have been guilty of violation of the Wright Act, should have a further effect in checking the efforts of bootleggers. Without a soft drink room to act as a blind, the task of explaining the contents of a bottle becomes doubly hard. It also increases the difficulty in selling the booze, and while bootleggers claim that they are doing a service by supplying the wants of the thirsty, still they are willing to do so only at a profit.

The question of goats seems a weighty one. And it may be that the somebody will get the council's "goat" before the matter is settled. Especially if birth certificates are issued for every kid.

We want none of sovietism in America, and we do not purpose to deal in a governmental capacity with soviet in Russia until they see the light and change their ways.

Seventeen children reported missing in one day in Los Angeles. How does the "Angel" city explain that? Did they run away to enter the movies?

The country demands tax reduction, and it demands that it be handled as an economic and not a political or party issue.

We feel perfectly safe in denying any rumor to the effect that Senator Reed of Missouri wrote the Bok peace plan.

Now Pluvias seems intent on making up for his lack of endeavor during the early part of the year.

Eleven Poisoned At Family Reunion

ALBANY, Ore., Feb. 6.—Only one of the party which composed a family reunion here last Saturday, remained alive today. With the death of Paul Gerbig today, following the deaths of Mrs. Reinhold Gerber and 3-year-old Margaret Gerbig, the total death toll of poisoning from food eaten at the dinner reached eleven. Horst Ruehling, 2-years old, whose parents already have died, is the sole survivor.

Mrs. Reinhold Gerber died at 7:30 o'clock this morning and Margaret Gerbig died an hour later. Paul Gerbig, the little girl's father, died at 9:30.

Ravages of the poison, believed to have been botulinus, in home preserved beans, destroyed two entire families and left Horst Ruehling, the sole survivor of a third family.

A fourth family, that of Otto Yunker of Thomas Station, near Scotia, Ore., suffered the loss of one of its members, Hans Yunker, 12, who died Monday night. Werner was a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Reinhold Gerber. Only a stroke of fortune, in the form of a hurry call from Otto Yunker, saved the latter's wife and elder son, Carl, from joining the others at the Gerber home in Albany.

Yunker had sent his wife and the two boys to Albany for fence wire, which he wished Saturday afternoon. They left the Yunker boy with the Gerbers and hastened back to their home. They and Otto Yunker are the only relatives of the Gerbers and Gerbig in America now living. All other relatives of the family live in Germany.

Arrangements for the funeral provide for a public ceremony at the First Presbyterian church, Albany's largest building of the kind. Four ministers will take part in the services and two sets of pall bearers have been provided for the burial, which will be Thursday afternoon.

WHY BANKS?

LESSON III

By J. M. PUELICHER, Chairman,
Committee on Public Education, American Bankers Association.

Banks are defined as "institutions chartered to receive deposits and make loans." What is a bank deposit? What is a bank loan?

BANK DEPOSIT = money or checks left with a bank to be kept safe from thieves, fire or other loss; to earn interest, if in a savings account; to be convenient for the future use of the depositor; to be loaned out to earn the expenses of the bank's services, and interest for the depositor when in an interest bearing account.

BANK LOAN = advance of money to help business enterprise so that business may again help the earner and saver by giving employment.

In the Middle Ages safes were very few. Goldsmiths kept their jewelry in strong boxes, and also accepted for safekeeping, for a fee, money packed and marked with the owner's name. In those days money saved lay idle; today it is put to work by banks for the benefit of the depositor and the community.

Escaped Slayers Killed in Fight With Officers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Feb. 6.—Emory Connell and Eulos Sullivan, convicted murderers, who escaped from death cells in the Arkansas penitentiary here, Friday, were shot to death late today in the woods near Redfield, Ark., a village 28 miles southeast of here, in a fight with a party of a dozen Little Rock policemen and newspaper reporters.

Fred Snodgrass, a newspaper man, was wounded slightly in the foot during the shooting.

Connell and Sullivan, lying hidden in the foliage of a fallen tree top, opened fire at close range after members of the posse had passed their hiding place without noticing them. The possmen scattered, taking refuge behind trees and wood racks and poured bullets into the tree top. When the bandits no longer returned fire each was found to have been hit several times.

The fight in the woods followed the capture early today of Joe Sullivan, who escaped with the two men who were killed. Sullivan suffered intensely from cold, privation and loss of blood, and because of a bullet wound in the arm was captured without resistance in the village of Redfield and brought here.

He said his companions still were in the woods and the man hunt, which had been carried on with little hope yesterday, was reorganized, with scores of deputies and citizens participating. Governor T. C. McRae authorized members of the National Guard to volunteer for service under Sheriff Homer Adkins, and many members joined the posse.

Joe Sullivan last night was in a serious condition in a local hospital. He said he received the wound in the arm Sunday, when Connell, walking behind him in the woods, shot him accidentally.

Matters concerning the repairing of the church social hall were also considered.

A social time was enjoyed with fancy work and dainty refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the afternoon.

Explains Steps For Transfers of 'Auto Ownership

SACRAMENTO, Feb. 6.—Nearly four out of every ten automobiles in California change hands each year. This is indicated in estimates compiled by the Division of Motor Vehicles showing an approximate total of 425,000 transfers of cars in 1923 as compared to a total registration of 1,115,000.

This record is due to the heavy turnover in the used car market, in the opinion of Will H. Marsh, chief of the Division, who points out that the increase in sales of new cars is bringing about a corresponding increase in the sale of second-hand cars.

With provisions in the new motor vehicle law for the issuance of a certificate of ownership to the legal owner of every car, a number of changes will be necessary in the method of transferring cars. For the information of those desirous of selling their cars, Marsh has the following to say:

"The ownership certificate and not the certificate of registration, is the document upon which the transfer is made and a sale is not complete until the certificate of ownership has been sent to this office or presented to a branch office and another issued in the name of the new owner.

"Spaces are provided on the face of every certificate of ownership for the signatures of the legal and registered owners. If a man, who is both legal and registered owner of a car desires to sell it, he should sign the joint endorsement of transfer on the back of the certificate and turn it over to the buyer. His signature must agree with that on the face of the certificate.

Colds Affect The Kidneys

Many Richmond People Have Found This To Be True.

Are you wretched in bad weather? Does every cold settle on your kidneys? Does your back ache and become weak? Are urinary passages irregular and distressing? These symptoms are cause to suspect kidney weakness. Weakened kidneys need quick help. Doan's Pills are especially prepared for weakened kidneys. Richmond people recommend them. Ask your neighbor. Mrs. R. Doanville, 1415 Nevins Ave., Richmond, says: "I used Doan's Pills off and on for attacks of kidney complaint. They are the best remedy I have ever used and they have always helped me. If I took cold it always affected my kidneys. I had backaches that kept me miserable. I felt tired and dull and had no energy. My kidneys didn't act right. Doan's Pills have always rid me of these attacks and put my kidneys in good order." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Doanville had. Hupmobile Motor Smoother, More Powerful

More than ever, the Hupmobile motor satisfies those performance demands upon which nearly all motor car owners are most insistent.

To say that it is the smoothest, steadiest motor Hupmobile ever built will signify much to you when you realize that Hupmobile motors have always been especially noted for smooth and steady going.

The Hupmobile motor of the past was greatly admired for its instant settling down to quiet, easy action. In the motor of the new Hupmobile, this feature has been heightened. You will now notice a new quality in its performance, which actually conveys a coasting, skimming sensation. This is accomplished through still smoother motor operation, still better engine operating balance, an increase of power.

The crankshaft is heavier, and counter-balanced, with bearing areas 20 per cent larger. The pistons and connecting rods are lighter.

The new Hupmobile is like a flash in get-away. It drives with delightful ease. A new two-plate clutch affords silent gear changes at all speeds.

Come in and see this more beautiful, larger, longer car. A fifteen minute ride will prove what a brilliant performer it is,—and we will be delighted to demonstrate.

Thieves Loot El Cerrito Home

The home of J. F. Plank on Lynn avenue in the Boden tract, El Cerrito, was entered by thieves and personal property valued at $200 was stolen, according to report at the sheriff's office at Martinez yesterday. Entrance to the home was gained through a window.

Schools Honor Woodrow Wilson

All schools in Richmond paid tribute yesterday to the memory of ex-President Woodrow Wilson, who was laid to rest in Washington, D. C. Appropriate exercises were held, consisting principally of addresses on the life and work of the former president.

At the high school assembly Clarence Rutledge showed a great deal of talent and force as an orator in giving an address on the "Life and Work of our Former President." The chief speaker of the day at the Roosevelt Junior high was Rev. H. K. Sanborn, who gave a wonderful speech on Wilson's life.

In the grammar grades, the principals of the various schools have their young charges an idea of the great work done by Wilson during his administration.

Carmel Myers In "The Love Pirate" At Macdonald

Carmel Myers was never more vivacious, was never more pretty and has never given a better performance than she does in "The Love Pirate," now showing at the Macdonald Theater.

It concerns a dashing, young assistant state's attorney and a beautiful young violinist, who in the blindness of her ambition are lured into the clutches of the owner of the notorious "Black Bird" cafe. Carmel Myers, as a caparot entertainer, carries the story to a big finish.

The flash of pistols in a darkened room—lurking figures in shadowy streets—romance, thrills and exciting suspense all figure prominently in the picture. In addition to Carmel Myers there is an admirable cast, consisting of Melbourne McDowell as Steve Carnan, Charles Force as Tim Gordon, Kathryn McGuire as Ruth Revere, Clyde Fillmore as Hugh Worley, John Hony as Gregg Winslow, Carol Hallway as Mrs. Carnan, Edward W. Borman as Joe Harris and Spottiswoode Aitken as Cyrus Revere.

Its director, Richard Thomas, is to be highly complimented on the manner in which he has handled this delicate mystery story. On the whole, the picture is a hard proposition to put over on the screen, but Mr. Thomas certainly knew what he was about. Melbourne McDowell as Steve Carnan is unusually forceful and carries a double role.

Kathryn McGuire as Ruth Revere, enacts a sympathetic role as a little violinist, carrying much of the weight of the dramatic situations.

"Life of Moses" Topic At Brown Evangelist Meeting; Pioneer Notchers of Richmond Present

Evangelist Brown last night, despite the rainy weather, drew a large crowd to the Tabernacle to hear his address. The subject of his sermon was "Moses and His Life." He brought out of the story of the life of Moses many things that can be applied in men's everyday life, and the most important was not to take the path that looks the easiest, as it usually is misleading and ends nowhere. He gave many interesting examples to cite his points and with his wonderful characterizations drove home the points he was trying to impress on his audience.

The Pioneer Notchers attended the meeting in a body, many of the members coming from Berkeley to hear Dr. Brown.

Brown, in his sermon last night, tried to impress the young listeners that the best things in life can be received only by the result of hard work. He illustrated this by taking as illustrations many of the examples that he has encountered in his career as a lecturer and minister.

Tonight will be scout night at the Tabernacle. The troops will attend the meeting in a body. They will assemble in front of the tabernacle at 7:30.

Problem of Youth Solved In Film At California

"Twenty-One," as presented at the California Theater yesterday, brings Richard Barthelmess back to the screen in a modern role.

The picture, which is a First National attraction, dealing with the problem of a youth of twenty who is unable to master his own fate because he has not yet reached his majority is in striking contrast to recent Barthelmess productions. It is light, full of humor and dramatic situations.

Inspiration Pictures, Inc., who produced the picture, prepared it for the screen with great attention to detail. The acting is excellent.

In the part of Julian McCullough, the right man's son, Barthelmess proves that he is a versatile star, one who can jump from character roles to modern parts and back again with great ease.

Dorothy Cummings again adds to her laurels in the part of a working girl. The settings, it is said, were taken at the famous Westchester-Biltmore Country Club at Rye, New York, the rendezvous of millionaires and at the famous estate of Samuel Untermyer, "Greystone."

"Twenty-One" is a picture which will delight all lovers of simple modern tales. It is unpretentious but very human. In the cast in addition to the star and Miss Mackintosh are Bradley Barker, Ivan Simpson, Dorothy Cummings, Elsie Lawson, Joe King, Nellie Parker Spaulding, and Helen Tracy.

John S. Robertson, who directed "Twenty-One," has given his characteristic careful attention to settings, acting and situations.

Other features on the same program: "Pinkie," a Cameo mirthquake; "Mixed Trails," an educational scenic; "Kinogram," visual news of all the world. Larry F. Canelo, at the California organ, playing Irish melodies.

Ask Supervisors For Stage Line

MARTINEZ, Dec. 4.—A delegation San Ramon Valley residents consisting of J. C. Jones, Bert Reed, Steve Johnson, Oscar Olsen, Charles G. Gould and Ralph Harrison and Neil Harrison appeared before the board of supervisors today for information relative to the proposed auto stage line between Danville and Walnut Creek to replace the service taken from residents of that section as a result of the abandonment of the electric road branch line between Danville and Sausalito.

Ralph Harrison acted as spokesman for the delegation. Chairman W. J. Buchanan advised them that the railroad commission claimed jurisdiction over the highways for the granting of franchises, though the supervisors have an ordinance against the operation of auto stages over county highways.

"The electric line was unable to plea of the company," said Br. Buchanan, "but it is proposed to make the county maintain highways for the accommodation."

"We might as well be 400 miles out in the woods," said Mr. Jones, "if we cannot get some relief for transportation accommodations."

Members of the committee voiced their criticism of the decision of the railroad commission in permitting the electric road to abandon the branch line, as did members of the board supervisors.

Eat No Sweets If You Are Rheumatic

Rheumatism is no respecter of age, sex, color or rank. It is the most dangerous of human afflictions. It is one of the most painful. Those subject to rheumatism should eat no sweets for awhile, dress as warmly as possible, avoid any undue exposure and above all, drink lots of pure water.

Rheumatism is caused by uric acid or body waste matter, and is often generated in the bowels and absorbed into the blood. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly, cold weather, the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this toxic acid, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.

At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste and stimulate the kidneys, thus helping to rid the blood of these rheumatic poisons.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.

for its basic supply of foodstuffs and raw materials, such as fuel, light, power, cotton and other essentials. Barbour said that the new 16-story Pacific Southwest Bank building in Fresno was an outstanding milestone in the advancement of outside capital into the San Joaquin valley. "The great backers of the west have faith in your sound and substantial farm stability," he said, "for you are building here in the San Joaquin an empire of enduring foundations."

Irrigation Fundamental
President Barbour pointed to the great irrigation developments projected in this valley and declared that the splendid success of the Stanislaus projects would be repeated in the counties of Merced, Madera, Fresno, Tulare and Kern.

He complimented the work of Ralph P. Merritt at the head of the raisin growers, stating that in "Ralph Merritt you have one of the great men of the west at the helm of your strongest farming industry."

Appeals to Dealers
He appealed to the real estate men of the eight valley counties to ally themselves with the local boards and thereby become realtors through affiliation with the state and national associations. He said that the pioneering work in realtorism by such men as the late George J. Wren, former state president; by State Presidents Fred E. Reed, Cliff Tatum and Fraser Reed should now be amplified by every established real estate dealer applying to the organization for membership.

"Through organization your state association has standardized the real estate business in California," President Barbour said. "We have secured the enactment of the first real estate license law, now the model for 15 other states; we have standardized forms for realty transactions, and we have implanted in the minds of our members and their clients a real moral of professional calibre. There never was a time when the buyer and seller of real estate should learn more to the established agent as his representative.

Aid Civic Institutions
"We have aided civic and county officials, and have co-operated in every way with communities to bring about their sound growth."

"Ready boards are the right arm of the chambers of commerce and a well organized realty profession in every town is the surest bulwark of a great civic commercial institution."

Among those present at the banquet were the following:

CROSSING CASUALTY

CHICAGO—Ninety-seven percent of the nation's automobilists use reasonable care in approaching railway grade crossings, according to Richard E. Kropf, supreme regent of the Royal Arcanum, who cited figures compiled by one of the great railway systems in an address on safety here.

"Grade crossings annually exact a ghastly toll of motorists, yet only a small part of the total number using the crossings are careless or reckless," said Mr. Kropf, who as head of the safety movement of the Royal Arcanum is preaching caution to the members of the 1300 councils of that order in the United States and Canada.

"Careful checking of selected crossings during June, July and August of last year, when traffic is always heaviest, found only 3 percent of all the motorists under observance obviously careless or reckless.

In thirteen states the careless drivers who by their failure to obey signals or slow down, not only jeopardized their own lives but the lives of all the occupants of their cars. Speeding over crossings was the chief fault found by the inspectors. Railroad companies have done their part in providing proper markings and in signalling the approach of trains in advance. In practically every grade crossing fatality, it is the motorist who is to blame. Most of them might be avoided."

The Royal Arcanum, numbering 125,000 members, has taken a definite stand in the movement to conserve life through the prevention of accidents in all walks of life. "This is a public as well as a fraternal duty," the supreme regent stated.

Just a year ago young Tidwell delivered his second sermon at the Baptist church in Miles, Texas. After hearing the boy preacher, the church voted to recognize the boy as a truly ordained minister. In his first year as preacher, the boy has traveled more than three thousand miles to deliver sermons, and has numbered a hundred conversions.

"LIFER" AND COMPANION ESCAPE FROM MARYLAND PRISON

Baltimore—In the boldest attempt in the history of the Maryland penitentiary, Jack Hart, alias James Connolly, serving a life sentence, escaped, accompanied by William F. Tilson, of Keokuk, Iowa, convicted of robbery and serving a sentence of five years. A reward of $1,000 has been offered for their capture. Tilson, 28 years old and over six feet tall, first freed himself from his cell by reaching his hand through the bars and working several screws from the lock. After taking off the lock he walked to the door of Hart's cell and opened it with a key that he had made in the foundry where he worked. Equipped with a crow bar, they squeezed their way to freedom by bending a two-inch wrought iron rod at the end of a moving screw from the lock. At left is shown Tilson, center the opening in bars and at right Hart as he looked at the time of his escape.

Low Meat Prices Feature January

A review of the livestock and meat situation issued by the Institute of American Meat Packers states, in part:

With meat production continuing on a scale fully as large as that of 1923, which broke all records for volume, the trade during January just closed, was characterized by a continuance of the low wholesale prices which have ruled for several months. Bacon, smoked picnic, and various fresh pork cuts, including pork loins, are again on the bargain counter of the wholesale markets. Fresh pork prices were somewhat higher during the first part of the month than during December, but declined again toward the end of the month until they were virtually at pre-war levels. Smoked meats declined slightly throughout the month.

Present wholesale quotations on lighter averages of loins are about 20 per cent lower than those which prevailed a year ago, and more than 50 per cent below the peak prices for 1923, reached in September. Bacon prices are 15 to 20 per cent below the prices which prevailed a year ago at this time. Some grades are substantially below pre-war levels. Smoked picnics are about 20 per cent lower than a year ago.

At these low levels, consumers are responding and large quantities of product are moving into consumption. However, notwithstanding the large consumption, production has been so heavy that stocks of practically all kinds of meats have shown substantial increases. This is a normal occurrence at this season of the year.

The increase in production was chiefly in pork. Measured by receipts at the 11 leading markets, pork production during the month was approximately 14 per cent heavier than during January a year ago and practically equivalent to the production of December, 1923, which set a monthly record, and possibly slightly higher.

Notwithstanding declines in practically all kinds of products, hog prices remained about steady for the month as a whole, averaging slightly higher than during December.

The large supply of unusually low-priced pork available on the market adversely affected the demand for beef, with the result that consumption lagged behind production and prices moved lower.

by creditors of the Mitchell Motor Car Company, says Frank A. Scholes, Richardson dealer. The appraised valuation of the Mitchell buildings and lands for forced sale is $1,000,000. The appraised valuation for replacement is far higher.

"The Racine factory buildings are ideally located for us," said Nash, "and they were purchased at this time because of plans for factory expansion under consideration by us for some time past and made advisable in view of the fast growing demand for our cars."

The Mitchell plants cover 36 acres of ground and have 500,000 square feet of floor space; they include one four story building 90x300 feet, the other buildings being one story structures of modern saw foot construction. When equipped by Nash Motors with modern machinery the new unit in the Nash production organization will be one of the finest automobile manufacturing plants in the country. The Racine factories are just ten miles north of the Nash Six plant and general offices at Kenosha, and 20 miles south of the Nash four cylinder plant at Milwaukee, all three cities being on Wisconsin Highway No. 15 and served by the Northwestern railroad.

Acquisition of the Racine property gives Nash Motors 190 acres of ground devoted to the processes of production and the square feet of floor space amounts to a total of 2,900,000. The Kenosha and Milwaukee plants are of the most modern type, as is also the factory of the Seaman Body Corporation, of which one-half interest is vested in Nash Motors. The four cylinder plant and the Seaman body plant are both practically brand new and were laid out under the direction of Mr. Nash. Nash Motors produced in 1923 approximately 41,000 cars.

REALTY DEALS REPORTED
very close to $6,000 cars. Despite this remarkable increase an oversold condition persisted during the greater part of the year.

The increased 1924 sales demand will be met by the addition of the factory facilities in Racine.

"Signs of Progress" in Oakland

THE City of Oakland grows apace—and the East Bay Water Company labors with might and main to keep well in advance of that growth. The laying of a new water main is proof positive of healthy expansion and growth in population.

For instance, it was the rapid increase in the number of apartment houses west of Broadway and south of 40th Street which made it necessary to lay that new main around the head of Lake Merritt and down Grand Avenue.

Concentration of families in apartment houses quickly multiplies the volume of water needed. To meet the needs of the apartment houses already built in the above section and provide for those promised, a 30 inch main was required. It connects with the general distributing system and extends from 4th Avenue and East 16th Street to 26th Street and Broadway.

Laying two miles of 30 inch main is a big job—an important one when you consider the number of people it will serve—yet it is only one item of the $1,000,000 investment in additions to plant and distributing system made by this company in 1923.

CALL it a duty, or call it a privilege—the East Bay Water Company undertakes to expand its service as the East Bay district grows.

New Frocks Are Simple in Line, with Emphasis on Originality

EMBROIDERIES SET NEW STANDARDS OF BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY

Varied Uses for Needlework That Can Be Quickly Developed

By MONA MULLEN

A GENIUS for simple designing is evident in every one of the new embroidery designs. Whether one be interested in handbags, pillows, scarfs, or luncheon sets, there is the same charming variety and unusual adaptability. The transfer for the handbag supplies both shape and design, the design being developed in beads or silk. Three-eighths of a yard of material is required for either bag.

The square pillow or cushion is ornamented with a design that requires only the one stitch, large daisy and fagoting stitches to develop. The transfer furnishes three yards of 8-inch border and 6 yards of a border 1/2-inch wide. Dainty little flowers to be worked in the Mille Fleurs and lay-daisy stitches are featured on the round pillow, which may be made of satin, velvet, silk, etc. A pretty combination is to have the flowers in gray, with orange centers, and the lines in black, on a background of henna.

Embroideries for Handbags, Pillows, Luncheon Sets, and Scarfs

The transfer for the luncheon set furnishes a cloth 16 by 16 inches and four place doilies 10 by 16 inches. The backs and flower design makes a handsome set if worked in colors. Linen or unbleached muslin may be used as the foundation material. The transfer for the scarf supplies a lovely design arranged in sections. From it one may make a scarf 18 by 42 inches or a square luncheon cloth 42 inches. Smaller centerpieces and scarfs may also be formed if desired. The edges are scalloped and buttonholed.

A Style Talk by Maude Hall

SIMPLE in line, with emphasis on originality. That, in a phrase, is the summary of the situation regarding frocks planned for Winter resort wear. The coat-frock prevails, but has a thrilling rival in the dress that introduces a bit of fullness at the sides.

The woman who makes her own clothes will have an easy time copying the models of the best Paris dressmakers this year, which means that she will be able to spend a little more on material and trimming. Lanvin creates a frock of unusual beauty for the youthful figure, developing it in dark navy charmeuse, the finely woven twill fabric with a glossy appearance that has made an enviable place for itself among the new cloths of the season. The dress closes on the shoulders, the neck being finished in round outline. Here, if desired, a piping of color could be introduced, or the bit of lace or net which Paris uses so often to give the lingerie touch to a model could be substituted. Turn-back cuffs finish the kimono sleeves in this instance, for the dress is designed for semi-formal as well as practical wear. One could easily lengthen the sleeves with deep cuffs of heavy blue crepe, however, then embroider the cuffs in gay tones or embellish them with appliques of conventional flowers. There is no belt. In fact, the gulf between the coat-frock and the belt seems to be constantly widening, with the encouragement of smart dressmakers. The front of the design is draped with two circular flounces which are caught up at one side, and above the waist-line the front is dart-fitted under the arms.

On some of the new slip-over designs the mannish shirt-bosom has been strikingly feminized, though it never trespasses far enough on the womanly idea to be developed in soft, fluffy materials. It usually is made of the same material as the dress, since it is used principally on frocks carried out in fabrics destined for hard wear. A dark brown twill with one of these new shirt-bosom effects gains extra cachet by having the front outlined with silk braid in self-color. The upper edge of the shirt-bosom vest is square and outlined with the braid. Finishing the neck is a turn-back collar, also braid-trimmed. The fullness at the sides and back is held in with a string belt of self-material.

The beltless sheath is expressed in a great variety of materials, French dressmakers being as fond of the lustrous finished cloths as of velveteens, velvets and crepes. The type is always smart and may interpret either conservatism or a coquettishness that amounts to flippancy. The particularly distinctive note about an Autumn brown broadcloth coat dress is the way the right front is draped up at the sides. At the right side there are three upturning plaits which are stitched into the under-arm seam, while at the left side the plaits are downward-turning and caught in with the facing which finishes the opening. The fastening is at the left side, and the deep, narrow revers are self-faced. Not so with the collar and cuffs, however, which are of braid of the most brilliant Russian coloring.

One can turn from the coat-frock to the dress which introduces fullness at the sides with equal frequency and find designs that please and are simple to duplicate. The overblouse idea seems to be associated with the skirt or dress that has gathers or plaits at the side. The draped bodice arrangement is only at the front; it must be explained, the back hanging in a straight line from shoulder to hem. For the overblouse the material of the dress is rarely used, some of the figured silks, embroidered crepes, or fancy satins being selected instead. Fur, braid, or ribbon may be introduced in the trimming of the neck and sleeves.

The separate blouse and skirt are featured at some of the smart French exhibitions, but usually they are in the same color if not of the same material. When this combination is effected one has only to have a jacket to correspond with the skirt to have a modish three-piece suit.

The coat-frock truly is well named, for often it serves every purpose of both coat and frock. Many smart women, developing the design in velvet, trim it with collar and cuffs of heavy brocade or fur and use it for general wear. The collars and cuffs are made detachable, so that they can be removed and replaced by sets of lace, linen, or net; and then the coat becomes a charming frock for the afternoon tea or other semi-formal function.

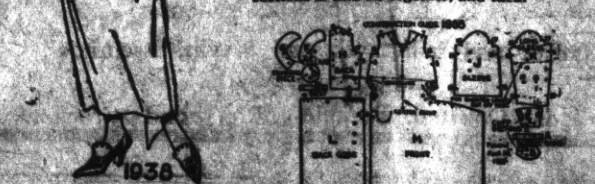

Interesting indeed are the sports clothes, represented by a long list of colorful sweaters, separate skirts, overblouses, shoes, etc. They add much to the season's spirit of gaiety and deserve fully the great popularity that they are now enjoying.

LESSON IN HOME DRESSMAKING

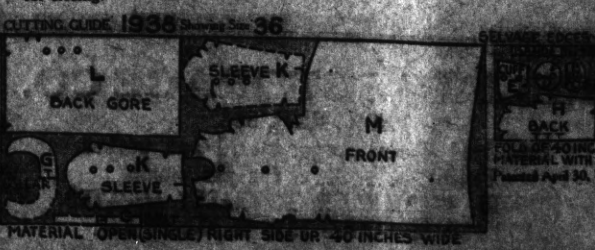

Straight-line Dress, Pleasingly Varied in Its Treatment of Side-Draperies

FOR those who like the simple draped effects, nothing could be more pleasing than this frock in dark blue flat crepe. The closing is on the shoulders and under the left arm, and there is no lining. Woolen materials and the sturdier cottons also may be used in its development. Medium size requires 4 yards of crepe 40 inches wide. The neck may be in either oval or round outline. The front of the dress is laid in plaits at the sides and hangs in cascade style below the plaits on the left side. The back of the dress, the cuffs and bands are cut on a fold of material, but the front, sleeves, back gore, and collar must be placed on a double fold of the crepe, as shown in the cutting guide. Mark the notches carefully and all of the perforations.

Begin the construction of the model by placing the right side edge of front section M. Bring "O" perforations up to corresponding small "O" perforations, and tack. Plait left side edge of front section, bringing "I" perforations marked 1, 2, and 3 in construction guide on reverse side of envelope to corresponding small "O" perforations, and tack; bring the side perforation below plaits up to the large "O" perforation, and stitch the plait and the edge above slot perforation to position. Form 3 more plaits at extension, bringing the remaining "I" perforations to corresponding small "O" perforations, and tack. Plait upper edge of back gore, bringing "I" perforations to corresponding small "O" perforations, and tack. Sew back gore to lower edge of section H, with notches, center-backs and right side edges even; ease in any fullness across the back. Close under-arm and shoulder seams as notched, leaving shoulder seam free above the lower small "O" perforations in back section H, and leave the left under-arm seams free below the upper large "O" perforations in section H; finish for closing. Lay the plaited edge of extension on section M over section L, with upper edges even, and finish with snap fasteners, allowing the end beyond plaits to fall in cascade style. Bring small "O" perforations near lower edges of sections L and M together, and tack.

Collar F—Sew to neck edge, with notches and center-backs even. Leave collar free forward of shoulder edges, and finish for closing.
Sleeve K—Plait, creasing on slot perforations; bring folded edge to corresponding small "O" perforations, and stitch; leave slashed edges free, and finish for closing. Center between "I" perforations; close seam as notched. Join cuff sections B and E as notched, and adjust on sleeve with lower edge of section E along line of a small "O" perforations, and stitch. Bring single large "O" and small "O" perforations near upper side edges of section E to corresponding perforations in sleeve, and stitch with edges to position. Adjust sleeve band, matching single large "O" and small "O" perforations in sections A and E, and tack at perforations; lay band to double small "O" perforation, and finish for closing. Sew sleeve in armhole as notched, with small "O" perforation at shoulder seam, and bring ease at sleeve to under-arm seam; ease in any fullness between notches. Hold sleeve toward you when finishing it.
Belt—Tack one end on front (on right side), matching single large "O" perforations. Arrange across back and slip underneath section D; finish for closing.

Egg Muffins

Sift into a bowl one and one-half cups of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt and four teaspoonfuls of baking powder, then add one cupful of milk, one egg well beaten, one tablespoonful of maple syrup, and beat well, then add one tablespoonful of melted butter, and mix gently.

Divide the mixture into greased and floured muffin or gem pans, and bake in a hot oven for twenty minutes.

Stuffed Head Lettuce

Boil compact heads of lettuce for fifteen minutes, plunge briefly into cold water and drain. Turn back the leaves without breaking and fill the center with a stuffing made of cold cooked meat and cracker crumbs, nicely seasoned and bound with beaten yolk of egg. Tie securely, dip in batter, and fry in hot fat until a golden brown. Serve with cream sauce.

Peach Gâteau En Surprise

Bake a plain sponge cake in a round tin. When cold scoop out the center, fill with stewed or canned peaches, and pile on the top with meringues. Brown lightly in the oven. Break the sides of the cake with warm jelly and cover with chopped nut meats. Serve with cream or a sweet white sauce.

CURED OF DROPSY FIVE YEARS AGO—IN FINE HEALTH EVER SINCE

Merced, Calif., Jan. 22, 1924.
To Whom It May Concern:—Five years ago I was suffering from a dropsical condition and my stomach was fearfully dilated by gas and water. I could neither lie down nor breathe with comfort; and many were the nights that I had to sit up to get my breath. Some of the physicians by whom I was treated thought that my trouble was due to the heart, but no matter what treatment they administered, I was neither relieved nor otherwise benefited.

Fortunately a friend of mine told me of the wonderful success of the FONG WAN HERBALIST. I took his herbs for only a FEW WEEKS, but was ENTIRELY CURED. This was five years ago, and I have had no ailment of any kind since. I formerly lived at 417 48th St., Oakland, but am now living in Merced. I am sending this testimonial and my photograph to the FONG WAN HERB CO., to again express to them my happiness over my COMPLETE AND PERMANENT RECOVERY.

Bridge Celebration Attracts Big Crowd; Many Speakers Tell of Work

ANTIOCH, Feb. 6.—A development of the most importance to all of Central California was the keynote of an Antioch Bridge celebration held at Antioch last month, when the Antioch Chamber of Commerce was host to the "Get-Acquainted" committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and representatives of other committees directly interested in the territory benefited through the building of this bridge.

"It will open up the entire Delta, comprising 525,000 acres of the richest land in the world, and this entire section should get solidly behind the American Toll Bridge Company and see that the bridge is pushed to rapid completion," was the statement of Roy Davis, president of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, and toastmaster of the luncheon held in the assembly room of the Antioch City Hall. Davis is generally credited with being the originator of the bridge idea, and it was through his efforts and those of the bridge committee of the Antioch Chamber of Commerce, that the United States War Department finally approved the plans for the bridge.

Speakers from the Oakland Chamber of Commerce were C. W. Foy, secretary of the industrial department; Howard Baxter, member of the board of directors; and Robert Robertson, City Commissioner. Albert E. Carter spoke as the official representative of the Oakland City Government.

President Green of the Isleton

Chamber of Commerce spoke on behalf of the Delta District.

The Antioch Bridge will cross the San Joaquin River from Antioch to Sherman Island. It forms the connecting link in the Victory Highway between the Delta and Contra Costa county and will make it possible for motor vehicles from the Sacramento Valley to enter the San Francisco Bay District, without carrying, and by the most direct route.

The bridge will be of the same general type as the Yolo Causeway, being in reality a concrete trestle with one fixed steel span with a 70 foot clearance at high water, and a steel lift span that also has a 70-foot clearance closed, and a minimum clearance of 135 feet when open. Both spans have a clear opening from pier to pier of 270 feet each. The entire bridge will be 3587 feet long, slightly longer than the Carquinez Bridge.

The fixed span and the lift span closed have both sufficient clearance to permit the passage of all present traffic on the San Joaquin River, and the lift span when open will allow passage of the largest vessels afloat. Smaller water craft will pass between the concrete piers carrying the causeway section of the bridge. From high water to the floor of the bridge the clearance varies from 31-2 feet to 60 feet, with a 90-foot fairway between the piers supporting the causeway.

There will be a roadway sufficient to allow three automobiles abreast and cement walks for pedestrians.

FIGURATIVELY, the P G and E stretches its tireless arms across arid wastes, harnesses streams and makes light, power and convenience responsive to the touch of your finger.

It fashions huge tanks, lays pipe, makes gas—and carries heat to the home, or industry.

With courteous grace it supplies power to assist Mi-lady with housework. Its brawny strength propels speeding trains, whirls massive wheels of factories, and helps the farmer in his toil.

In its service to housewife, rancher, manufacturer and merchant, it performs many remarkable feats. Transporting 220,000 volts of electricity, at one time, for the great distance of 208 miles, is but one of several achievements that have brought fame to this Company.

The P G and E assures comfort for you and makes it attainable at low cost. Health, happiness and progress are dependent upon the fidelity with which it serves.
